

Have you ever thought about hosting a foreign exchange student?

Consider this wonderful opportunity as a one of your unforgettable life experiences...

IRIS - Iowa Resource for International Service - a non-profit organization located in Ames, is a pioneer in a new program that hopes to lessen misconceptions about America in parts of the world where Islam is the predominant religion and mistrust of other religions is growing.

Hello! My name is Florence Peter, and I'm a high school junior from Nigeria. While in the U.S. I hope to make new friends, and see the beauty of the U.S. that people talk about. My career ambition is to be a medical doctor and help in my village. I've never traveled outside of Nigeria before. I'm VERY exited about this wonderful experience! THANKS!

I'm Ali Haji Mohammed from Tanzania. I'm Muslim, and during my stay in the US, I hope to learn more about the American culture and teach US students about my country. I'm hardworking, polite and honest. I want to tell my host family to be ready to learn a lot about Tanzania and Africa!!!

If you would like to join in this effort, and would appreciate the chance to open your home to a student and learn more about African culture, please contact:
